

Contact: Gina Rotolo
Mobius Risk Group, LLC
713-877-0404 or grotolo@mobiusriskgroup.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 13, 2007

MOBIUS RISK GROUP ANNOUNCES NEW EXECUTIVE STAFF MEMBERS
Houston-Based Energy Risk Management Company Positioned for Strategic Growth And Development

HOUSTON (March 13, 2007)—Mobius Risk Group, LLC (www.mobiusriskgroup.com) announces new executive staff members Mike Keller, Director of Business Development; Julia Doke, Client Manager; Richard F. Cooper, Director of Information Technology; Karen Lee, Director, Physical and Operational Energy Services; and Gina Rotolo, Director of Marketing & Communications.

“Mobius has experienced consistent, managed growth since our inception, with a focus on building scalability across our entire business platform,” stated Eric Melvin President and CEO, Mobius Risk Group. “The addition of our new team members supports our continued efforts to efficiently utilize our team’s strengths and is in direct response to significant reverse inquiry for our expertise and services.”

Mike Keller is Director of Business Development for Mobius and offices in Santa Cruz, CA. With more than 23 years of senior level business management experience, predominantly in the energy and environmental sectors, he is an expert in hedging techniques using sophisticated options strategies, and has taught portfolio risk mitigation strategies domestically and in the Middle East. Keller has specific expertise in carbon credit creation and trading, and using the value of carbon credits to finance capital projects. He has an in-depth understanding of renewable energy credits and a talent for developing creative financing strategies. Beginning in financial management and progressing to overall business development, Keller has been focused in the energy and sustainability sector for the majority of his career.

Julia Doke is responsible for managing the company's client relationships from a risk, analytical and physical perspective with experience in venture debt, venture capital, investment banking and marketing. She brings more than a decade of financial analysis and structuring and client management experience to Mobius.

Richard F. Cooper manages informational systems and specializes in analysis, design, implementation and security for a range of informational systems including business development and coexistence with enterprise technology.

Karen Lee has more than 10 years of hands-on experience in fuel supply management, mid-marketing, asset management and trading. She is responsible for physical and operational services pertaining to natural gas on behalf of Mobius' clients.

Gina Rotolo is responsible for the development and management of the company's internal and external marketing and public relations campaigns. She has more than 10 years experience in marketing, public relations, branding, crisis communications, media relations and event planning.

Julia Doke, Richard Cooper, Karen Lee and Gina Rotolo are based out of the company's corporate headquarters in Houston, Texas.

Mobius Risk Group, LLC ("Mobius") is a commodity advisory firm that provides asset and market valuation services, market insight and analysis, commodity risk management strategies and execution, energy procurement and asset optimization, risk policy development and implementation, utility representation, information management and reporting through MobiusRiskNet™, and asset efficiency expertise to capital providers, exploration and production companies, commercial, manufacturing and industrial clients and utilities and municipalities. Mobius acts only with a clear fiduciary relationship to our client and not as an aggregator, broker or counterparty. In 2006, Mobius executed more than $6 billion in commodity risk and physical energy transactions which had significant positive impact for our clients. For more information, visit www.mobiusriskgroup.com.

###